"NIL FALSI AUDEAM, NIL VERI NON AUDEAM DICERE." (Cicero.)

SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 28th, 1862

The Capital and the President.

Although we have so often assured our European readers of the brilliant and peaceful era just inaugurated, we wish to reiterate such promises, as a postscript to our packet review. The election of Capital and President is a new pledge of security, and our political horizon is at present without a cloud. The angry agitation about the metropolis at first threatened almost a revolution, not so much from the numerical force of the opposition as from their violent and aggressive attitude. The chair of President was about to present a vacuum, which would seriously endanger the stability of the Republic, since the hopes of the nation are inseparably bound up with Gen. Mitre's government.

Fortunately, the Provincial Chambers yielded to the impetuous demand of the people, and foreigners have seen their hopes realised in the capitalization of B. Ayres. The ridiculous plea that our policy was calculated to ruin this city, has been triumphantly belied by the province of Santa Fé, which offered its capital as seat of the National authorities. In fact none of the confederate provinces would have refused the honor; and if all the inhabitants of B. Ayres were balloted, it would be found that nine-tenths were capitalists. Much credit is due to the firmness of our President-elect, who made the Capital in B. Ayres a necessary condition; obliging the opposition to incur the odium and responsibility of his retirement from power.

The adversaries of the metropolis count some clever men, but their political standing is at zero, compared with D. Bartolomé Mitre. The fever of faction could not blind them so far as to cherish the idea that the people would confide its destinies to their keeping; and they have gained more popularity by submission, than by the too-eloquent orations which they vainly launched against the Gibraltar of public opinion and its fearless champion Dr. Costa.

Yet we have no intention to make defeat a mortification: while we regret that some of our colleagues wasted their efforts, in favor of co-existence, or removal of the Nat. authorities; we believe this was rather an error of judgment than a preference of private to public interests. B. Ayres is the heart and soul of the nation, from hence must emanate the great arteries which will give life and energy to the rest of the republic, and here Nature has fixed the centre of the Argentine universe, from which the minor constellations must receive light, warmth, motion and regularity.

Seldom does it fall to the lot of any ruler, to assume power with the unanimous voice of his fellow citizens, seldom do the views of natives and foreigners meet in perfect accord; never has the Argentine republic seen the accession of a President, without actual or threatened war; never has any successful candidate formed his programme for the equal advancement of each of the provinces. What a happy augury to find all these circumstances united in the election of General Mitre! This is a victory far more brilliant than the skirmish of Pavon, and fraught with higher promise than the revolution of 1810. Those who remember our sarcastic congratulations after the affair of Cañada Gomez will readily believe that we are little given to flattery. We hail the new President, not in his character as a warrior, but as the best friend of Peace. Our sympathies are with the honest men who advocate progress and industry, our hostility is towards those who preach discord and contempt of foreigners, under the pretext of a superannuated Constitution.

The Uruguay Mails.

We have dates up to Thursday 25th. Padre Curcio has been named chaplain to the state-college of Concepcion, which is rediciwus under the direction of Mr. Larroque. Don Juan Moreno is the new chief of Police in Gualeguay. Great excitement was caused at Paraná by the appearance of a madman personifying D. Waldino Urquiza, and supposed to be one Sr. Brizuela. On the evening of the 10th this individual arrived by the Dolorcitas, having informed deputy Governor Velazco and the Paraguay Consul that he was the son of D. Justo. He related confidentially a secret mission he had just fulfilled in Monte Video, adding that he put up at the Franciscó Convent in Buenos Ayres, and paid a flying visit to Rosario and S. Lorenzo, for the purpose of creating a reactionary coup d'état in favor of Urquiza. He begged "the hospitality of the Paraguay flag, as Paraná was hostile to his father."

This was refused on the grounds that there were no assassins in the city. Meantime a friar, from Rosario, stated that Waldino had held a conference in San Nicolas with Laprida and other federal chiefs, to provoke a rebellion in Sta Fé. No sooner did the news get wind, than a band of music, and all the notabilities, crowded the residence of Waldino. Next morning the Cura told Dr. Carriego that Urquiza was very angry with him and summoned him to San José. The terrified editor at first prepared to "apretarse el gorro"; while our hero liberated prisoners, distributed alms, overhauled the Defensor de Menores, appointed Major Alvarez his aide-de-camp, kept a sentry at his door, and played his role with great success

At length on the 17 th Adm. Muratori chanced to arrive in the B.Ayres and Waldino at once sent to demand the object of his visit, to which the former replied that he came to visit his friends. The latter expressed great fear that some one might assassinate the salvage unitario, but the Adm. took no heed of Sr. Velazco's warning. Waldino became excited, and the citizens grew suspicious of his reality. Finally a commission composed of Sr Velazco, Brigadier General Pedernera, & Sr. Bareis called on the intruder for some proofs of his identity, but he treated them with the most degrading contempt, adding "I knew ye were all cut throats, and I have ordered my soldiers to sack the town, that you may know I am Ubaldino Urquiza"

The populace besieged the house mounting the church roof, and scaling the adjoining wal's, to take vengeance on the imposter, but he was gone! The rumor then ran to "search the church" and a soldier discovered him grasping the altar with his left hand, a revolver in his right. The Cura was then sent for, but declined venturing in, Commissaries Moreno and Rasnaldo succeeded in disarming him, and brought him to the Policia, amid an immense crowd. Juan Segui declared him to be an imposter, to which the latter retorted the compliment. An Italian named Rissetto declared the same, to which our hero replied "you are a roguish gringo! Meantime the populace grew more rabid, and after repeated inquiries, the prisoner promised to tell who he was if the room were cleared.

Accordingly, no one remained but the Chief of Police who whispered insinuatingly "who the devil are you in earnest?" The adventurer quietly answered, "I am Colonel Waldino Urquiza, son of the Captain General, though the savage Unitarios deny it." Hereon the Chief grew dubious, and called in Colonel Castillo, who certified the identity of the prisoner as Waldino, who now declared he came on a secret mission from SnJosé. Col. Garmendia denied that he was Waldino, although he had hitherto received him as such. The pretender then laid his hand familiarly on the shoulder of Judge Zavalia, asking him what he thought and receiving rather a brusque reply.

Colonel Ibarra certified that he knew Waldino as well as his own little finger and that this was not he. More over Waldino has a wound on his right breast, and the prisoner on being stripped, shewed a similar mark.

The mob began shouting "to prison, to prison with him" and the chief committed him with fetters. While proceeding to prison he shouted "Viva General Urquiza", which was received with hisses. Some suppose him to be our friend Montecristo, but we doubt it. He is tall, genteel, well dressed, of dark complexion, and about 24 years old.

During a whole week he succeeded in humbugging the capital of the province, and the freak seems merely a practical joke to shew how extremely gullible are the Entre-Rianos.

The money market.

The money market in Buenos Aires has become an enigma for us all.

It is notorious that trade is very dull yet the brokers are all making fortunes.

It is equally notorious that we have a Bank in this City which offers to pay 6 0/0 interest on deposits, yet nevertheless they refuse money when it is sent to them.

We have a great demand for specie to pay for exchange, yet we witness ounces steadily declining people naturally ask themselves how comes this extraordinary state of things? how is it that the Bank is crowded with paper money, yet keep the rates of interest at 9 p ꝯ, preferring to let the money lie idle in their vaults than lend it out at a lower rate, the plain solution of the matter is that we have too much paper-money for the requirements of trade. In busy seasons of course this great plethora of paper is not so much felt, but when things get dull, the only "dernier ressort" merchants have, to get rid of their surplus cash is the Bank: this is now closed against their service, they not only refuse specie, but last Thursday we are informed refused paper from a large importing house.

The burning of 3 millions per month at present has no perceptible effect on the market whatever, but if it is continued, it will tell wonderfully towards the close of the year, and the idea is daily gaining ground that the true par value of the Doubloon is not so much abead of the Gov. figure. Many parties consider that as the Chascomus RR must be finished within a certain period it will very shortly be felt on our market here, in an indirect manner, and that no matter what operation the Bank may make to the introduction of foreign coins, it will be altogether impotent in its efforts, for paper to enhance must be burned and Doubloons cannot multiply, therefore foreign gold must be resorted to, when the demand increases, the building of a new Railway must necessarily increase the specie transactions of the country, and unless we introduce foreign coin we cannot increase our specie, this subject for importance to us all, is second to none, and calls for immediate action. The Government we understand is quite favorable to the measure but the impediment we hear is the Bank.

The shearing season is now approaching and paper money will necessarily be in demand, the bank will then probably receive deposits from the sheep farmers and others, and do a driving trade in lending at high rates. Few therefore will deny that the Bank is the cause of all the troubles in our money market, but we are bright with hope. Things cannot go on as they are going, and the day is by no means far distant, when we shall have a good, sound Bank established here, on sate banking principles. People will then know what to attribute a sudden rise or fall in the rate of interest as it is we are all in the dark no man knows what to count on, to-day the bank refuses deposit of either paper or gold tomorrow perhaps they will be offering ten per cent to depositors we ask the Government to look into the matter and if possible to afford some remedy against the evils which we complain.

Rosario.

Advices state that the immigration scheme of Cordoba and Sta. Fé is seriously thought of. Dr Minelli is causing some annoyance at Tucuman, where he is preaching his infidel Genesis, which was so favorably advocated by our Tribuna colleagues. The Patria, a second edition of the tacahero lucubrations contradicts our correspondence respecting the strange doing of the Mendoza government.

FOREIGN MISCELLANY.

CONFEDERATE DIPLOMACY AT PARIS. —I must give you an idea of some of the habits of the Slidell family. Since they moved into their apartments in the Champs Elysées, every Thursday evening has been devoted to receptions, which have been attended by all respectable Southerners in Paris, (and some, perhaps, who would not strictly be entitled to that denomination) as well as by a considerable number of French families. Mrs. Slidell and her daughters, however, have had it distinctly understood that they make no calls, and, while happy to see all their friends, return no visits and go nowhere, alleging as their reason the present melancholy and dilapidated condition of "the country" which they desire to represent at this court, and which melancholy & dilapidated condition is supposed to cause them to shed so many metaphorical tears that they would not look well in society. The result has been that with very few exceptions, they have not visited at all. Well, on the evening in question, last week, the Minister of interior, the Count de Persigny, gave one of his "private receptions," distinguished from a public reception by the fact of none being present except upon invitation. A card was sent to Mr Slidell the day before, requesting his presence; but he sent an excuse, and did not come. In the course of the evening however, the Count de Persigny ordered up his carriage, and getting into it, went himself to Mr. Slidell's residence, and sent word up to him that it was a matter of the greatest importance that he should come Mr. Slidell got into the carriage with Persigny and drove to his residence, where the "Ambassador" found a considerable assemblage of the very highest personages of Paris, and among them no less important an individual than his Majesty Napoleon the Third, with whom it is said Mr Slidell sat in a corner and chatted for nearly an hour. This was only a day or two before the departure of Persigny for England, whither it is supposed he has gone upon business connected with American affairs.—Paris correspondence of the "New York Herald.

A man was, a short time back, condemned to death for the murder of a man whose wife was enceinte. The trial was hardly terminated when the woman gave birth to a son. In consequence, the execution was put off [illegible] till the child should attain his majority as he will then have to decide if the murderer shall redeem the son of his father for a sum of money, or if the execution shall take place. In the meantime the murderer will remain in prison.—Letter from Constantinople

LOCAL EVENTS.

PAPER-MONEY.—We have heard, on reliable authority, that the farmers of Tuyu, having come short of paper-money, circulate square pieces of the "Standard", as currency, and that our journal is, in a double sense, at a high premium.

EN TOUTO NIKA.—The "Labarium" of this country is contained in this sentence—Long live President Mitre, and long may Buenos Ayres be capital of the Argentine Republic.

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.—There are many measures wanted in this town but our readers will agree with us that it would be highly convenient for our Municipality to have the "Act for the prevention of cruelty to animals" translated, put their signatures at the end and publish it as a regulation.

If they don't want to work they may well take advantage of regulations which come to them ready made.

SPRING—Our city for the last week has presented a new feature, trade revives, the streets are thronged and every outward sign shows the transition of our climate.

The fruit trees are in splendid condition, the camps near town are yet moist with the rain of last week and every thing betokens a change

Families are preparing their trunks for a summer ostracism to the delightful river coast places whose inhabitants are awaiting a gay season of balls, picnics, &c. while in town streets are being paved, railways pushed forward and Clubs abandoned for a healthy walk to our suburbs.

THE SMALL POX.— continues with unabated vigour and the season is unhappily a bad one for such contagious [illegible] season.

It is to be hoped that the municipality will take all necessary measures for the prevention of an epidemic which is growing very serious.

EXCHANGE.—Last week in Corrientes was $23½ paper currency of that province per ounce.

The Government should endeavour to amortize as soon as possible this bad money, [illegible]

COTTON.—The crop expected from [illegible] establishment in Corrientes this year will probably exceed [illegible]

This return is highly satisfactory.

PRESIDENCY.—The result of the elections of Salta and Jujuy is already known. The returns are in favor of General Mitre and Dr. Marcos Paz unanimously.

Thus Mitre has been unanimously elected by the Republic with but a single dissenting voice and Dr. Marcos Paz has obtained the Vice Presidency by a very large majority over his competitors.

THE SWEET ROSE OF SUMMER.—Giuditta Altieri has brought, with her summer, smiles, and sunshine. "Now is the winter of our discontent made glorious summer by this sun of Cork."

NEVER FIGHT WITH A SWEEP.—We call the attention of our English Irish Scotch German French and even Porteño readers to a filthy local event in the "Tribuna", of the 27th inst. it is altogether characteristic of the paper in question: For ourselves we beg to be permitted to say that we decline controversy with such an opponent.

91 VOTES.—D. Marcos Paz has obtained, this number, being 28 more than required for his return to the chair of vice-president.

GOING, GOING, GONE.—One of our city auctioneers cleared out last week verifying his oft repeated adage.

NACION ARGENTINA.—Our new colleague deserves a congratulation for the talented and recherché compilation it presents each day: this is the secret of its signal success. In yesterday's No: it does us the compliment to produce two articles of ours, with a favorable comment.

On Change.

September 27th.

Ounces opened at 410 and closed at 409 having gone down to 408 1[2 during the day. Sales for cash amounted to 5980.

At the plazas we know of few sales effected as follows: 100 dozen San Nicolas sheep skins $65; 200 dry cow hides duty paid $127; 400 ox and cow do $115 to 130; 1000 dozen sheepskins at from $120 to 182 according to quality; 600 pound nutria skins $5 1[4 1000 do do at $5 1[2; 120 dozen shoepskins from the river $140 and 130 dozen do do from do at $5 2rls silver duty paid; 20 arrobes hair, cow tails 36rls.

At the Bolsa few sales were effected as follows: 1000 salted horse hides 15 1[2rls; 15 pipes mare's grease $35 without cask; and 400 dry hides from Diamante [Entre Rios] 44rls.

Yesterday two sales were made for 6000 Entre Rios ox and cow hides at 44 to 45rls, and 1000 do from Corrientes at 41rls.

The Dutch brig Sophia Maria has been placed on the berth for Antwerp.

French brig Bayadere chartered to load for Marseilles at 30 francs for weight cargo, 90 for dry hides, do do for bales and 10 per cent.

People were rather busy on change to-day, close on 6,000 ounces were sold for cash, which is to be accounted for by the large amount of exchange sold for this packet.

The general impression with the brokers is that ounces must give way. The conversation amongst merchants was confined to the extraordinary action of the Bank, and some of our merchants expressed pretty, decided opinions on the subject.

We Notice a sale of 5,000 sheep at $50 cash in the Partido of the Capilla, the sheep are of the best mestiza class and must be considered cheap at this price so near the shearing. At present there are more buyers than sellers, which is a good sign.

We also notice the sale of a suerte o estancia in the villa Luxan for one million, ten thousand paper dollars, an Irishman was the purchaser.

Conclusion.

La culture du Coton préoccupe beaucoup les esprits et est surtout l'objet de l'attention de la population anglaise dans la Plata. Une des principales maisons commerciales de cette nation établie á Montevideo, vient de faire les premiers pas dans cette voie, en entreprenant dans la province de Santa Fé, la culture exclusive du cotonier sur une vaste echelle. Nous ne saurions trop signaler ces efforts pour propayer la culture d'une plante sur laquelle les événemens récens ont appellé l'attention du monde entier.

La paix dont nous jouissons sous l'administration ferme et intelligente du Gal. Mitre permet d'espérer que les intérets matériels du pays prendront un essor immense et profiteront de toute la somme d'énergie que la tranquilité publique convergera sur eux en la détournant des discordes civiles. La ponctualité que met le Gouvernement á remplir les engagements contractés par la République donne aussi la meilleure opinion de ses ressources et de son integrite. Cette maltie emportera la somme de £14.807 ou environ 370,000 fr. en paiement des intérêts et de l'amortissement trimestriels de la dette contractée envers l'Angleterre. Les nouvelles des provinces sont dénuées d'intérêt; toutes se contentent en ce moment de célébrer l'anniversaire de la Bataille de Pavon, dont le souvenir rappelle le triomphe du parti du progrès sur les éterels fauteurs de la guerre civile.

Du Paraguay nous parvient une nouvelle, qui aura du retentissement jusqu'en Europe. Le Président Lopez que, pendant vingt ans a exécé une dictature inflexible dans le Paraguay vient de mourir et dispo ant de la Présidence, comme un monarque absolu dispose de sa couronne, il a nommé son fils D. Francisco Solano Lopez, son successeur. Cet acte d'autorité posthume montre toute l'étendue du pouvoir qu'exerçait cette homme extraordinaire, car plus heureux que le plus absolu des rois, Louis XIV, il a réussi á imposer sa volonté á la nation, au delà méme de la tombe Son fils succéde donc au pouvoir, en vertu des mémes droits que les rois mérovingiens; ce qui est un fait assez curieux dans une République.

Les journaux Argentins ont selevé une protestation, qu'un français Mr. Cornac a dirigée contre notre ministre. L'auteur de cette pièce, qui prend des allures de diplomate, malgré sa simple qualité d'homme d'affaires a eu l'étrange idée de sommettre á un public complètement indifférent, des griefs aussi absurdes qu'imaginaires. Cette protestation du reste est un monument curieux de l'audace d'une personne qui se fait accusatrice, lorsqu'elle est encore sous le coup d'une plainte bien plus sérieuse adressé á notre Ministre des Aff.Et. agéres.

Dans une autre partie de notre journal l'on trouvera la Revue commerciale qui complétera ce que nous avons á exposer des événements et de la situation de cette quinzaine.

REVUE COMMERCIALE.

Nous empruntons á la Revista les renseignements commerciale suivans, que ce journal met le soin le plus louable á rendre le journal plûs exacts possible.

(Suite).

Plumes d'Autruche.—Il s'est vendu 5000 liv. plumes ... en hausse a $ 32 et dernierement ... de Patagones bonne classe a $ 27

Monsieur, dit le petit savoyard, avec cette confiance de l'enfance qui se compose d'ignorance et d'innocence,—ma piece!

—Comment t'appeles tu dit Jean Valjean.

—Petit-Gervais, monsieur.

—Va t'en, dit Jean Valjean.

—Monsieur, reprit l'enfant, rendez moi ma piece

Jean Valjean baissa la tete et ne repondait pas

L'enfant recommença.

—Ma piece, monsieur!

L'œil de Jean Valjean resta fixe á terre.

—Ma piece! cria l'enfant, ma piece blanche! mon argent!

Il semblait que Jean Valjean n'entendit point. L'enfant le prit au collet de sa blouse et le secoua. Et en meme temps il faisait effort pour deranger le gros soulier ferré posé sur son tresor —Je veux ma piece! ma piece de quarante sous!

L'enfant pleurait. La tete de Jean Valjean se releva. Il etait toujours assis. Ses yeux etaient troublés. Il considera l'enfant avec une sorte d'étonnement, puis il étendit la main vers son bâton et cria d'une voix terrible:—Qu'est la?

—Moi, monsieur, répondit l'enfant Petit-Gervais! moi! moi! rendez-moi mes quarante sous, s'il vous plait! ôtez votre pied, monsieur, s'il vous plait! Puis irrité, quoique tout petit, et devenant presque menaçant:

—Ah ça ôterez-vous votre pied l'Otez donc votre pied, voyons!

—Ah! c'est encore toi! dit Jean Valjean, et se dressant brusquement tout debout, le pied toujours sur la pièce d'argent, il ajouta:—Veux-tu bien te sauver!

L'enfant effaré le regarda, puis commença á trembler de la tête aux pieds et après quelques secondes de stupeur, se mit á s'enfuir en courant de toutes ses forces sans oser tourner le cou ni jeter un cri

Cependant á une certaine distance, l'essoufflement le força de s'arrêter, et Jean Valjean, á travers sa rêverie l'entendit qui sanglottait.

A bout de quelques instants l'enfant avait disparu.

Le soleil s'était couché.

L'ombre se faisait autour de Jean Valjean. Il n'avait pas encore mangé de la journée; il est probable qu'il avait la fièvre.

Il était resté debout. et n'avait pas changé d'attitude depuis que l'enfant s'était enfui. Son souffle soulevait sa poitrine á des intervalles longs et inégaux. Son regard, arrêté á dix ou douze pas devant lui. semblait étudier avec une attention profonde la forme d'un vieux tesson de faïence bleue tombé dans l'herbe. Tout á coup il tressaillit; il venait de sentir le froid du soir.

Il raffermit sa casquette sur son front, chercha machinalement á croiser et á boutonner sa blouse, fit un pas, et se baissa pour reprendre á terre son bâton.

En ce moment il aperçu la pièce de quarante sous que son pied avait á demi enfoncée dans la terre et qui brillait parmi les cailloux. Ce fut comme une commotion galvanique.—Qu'est-ce que c'est que ça! dit-il entre ses dents. Il recula de trois pas, puis s'arrêta, sans pouvoir détacher son regard de ce point que son pied avait foulé l'instant d'auparavant, comme si cette chose qui luisait là dans l'obscurité eut ete un œil ouvert fixé sur lui.

Au bout de quelques minutes, il s'élança convulsivement vers la pièce d'argent, la saisit et, se redressant, se mit á regarder au loin dans la plaine, jetant á la fois ses yeux vers tous les points de l'horizon, debout et frissonnant, comme une bête fauve effarée qui cherche un asile.

Il ne vit rien. La nuit tombait, la plaine était froide et vague, de grandes brumes violettes montaient dans la clarté crepusculaire.

Il dit: Ah! et se mit á marcher rapidement dans une certaine direction, du coté où l'enfant avait disparu. Apres une trentaine de pas, il s'arrêta, regarda et ne vit rien.

Alors il cria de toute sa force:—Petit-Gervais Petit-Gervais!

Il se tut, et attendit.

Rien ne répondit

La campagne était déserte et morne. Il était environné de l'étendue. Il n'y avait rien autour de lui qu'une ombre où se perdait son regard et un silence où sa voix se perdait.

SHEEP WASH ...
A sure cure for the Scab in Sheep
No Sheep-Farmer should be without it.
This valuable preparation which is now used by nearly all the wool growers of this country, is a concentrated extract, one pound of which is equal to five pounds of tobacco, retaining in this compound all the properties of the raw material. The only labor required to render the wash ready for use, is to stir the paste into the quantity of cold water, needed for the number of sheep to be cured.
The most satisfactory recommendations of its perfect safety, simplicity and utility, from the principal Estancieros of this country may be had on application to the undersigned. Full directions for use are given on each tin.
